Move To Add Guarantee In Abortion Bill Rejected

OTTAWA (CP) — The Commons rejected Monday two attempts from opposition members to have guarantees written in the Criminal Code that when therapeutic abortions are legal, hospitals, doctors and hospital staff refusing them will not be prosecuted.

Robert McCleave (PC-Halifax-East) moved an amendment to the government's omnibus Criminal Code bill, which would spell out that hospitals are not legally obliged to set up abortion committees or doctors obliged to perform abortions.

John Burton (NDP—Regina East) added a sub-amendment to make the provision apply to all hospital staff who might be involved in an abortion. The 120-clause Criminal Code bill would permit a doctor to perform a procedure if a prospective mother is endangered. It is at the report stage in the Commons, the step before third and final reading.

Justice Minister John Turner argued there would be no obligation on a hospital to set up a committee to decide on abortions, as allowed in the bill, nor on any doctor, nurse or hospital employee to perform an abortion.

Writing in such a protective clause "might be misleading to the medical profession," he said, and might obscure the civil obligation of the medical profession to ensure that a patient is able to make a free choice of medical adviser and hospital. Relations among hospitals, doctors, nurses and patients are provincial responsibilities, Mr. Turner said.

Abortion—which some may refuse to perform for reasons of conscience—would be in the same category as organ transplants, sterilization and blood transfusions, which are refused by some doctors.

The only legal responsibility of a doctor or hospital might be to advise the patient of her right to go to another hospital or another doctor.

Gerald W. Baldwin (PC—Peace River) said there is an implication in the bill that a hospital or a doctor refusing to perform an abortion might be liable to penalty.

Mr. McCleave's amendment was defeated 94 to 36 and Mr. Burton's sub-amendment went down 81 to 40.

Brotherhood Wants Indians To Write Act Not Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — The National Indian Brotherhood said today that Indians and not the federal government should rewrite the Indian Act.

In a submission to a national Indian conference, the last in a series of meetings to consider changes in the act, the brotherhood said consultations so far "have been weighted heavily in favor of the government."

The result could only be a government interpretation of what Indians want, said the brief. It would be wiser for Indians to consult with Indians, than tell the government what the Indian people want.

David Courchene, federation vice-president from Winnipeg who wrote the brief, said the consultations had not dealt with the real priorities of the Indians. He defined these priorities as:

1. Recognition of treaties and the obligations they imposed on both government and Indians.

2. Recognition of aboriginal rights.

3. Recognition of injustices resulting from restrictions on Indian hunting and fishing.

4. Establishment of an Indian claims commission.

The brief says these points might be covered by the new act.

At any rate, some agreement must be reached about them before changes are made.

The brotherhood wants the conference to ask the government for $432,000 to carry out the new plan for consultation.

After about an hour's discussion on the brief, the conference decided to put it aside for awhile for delegates to consider before further debate and a vote on it.

Bill Would Boost Loans To Be Insured Under NHA

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau today gave formal notice of a bill to increase to $15,000,000,000 from $11,000,000,000 the aggregate amount of loans which may be insured under the National Housing Act.

An outline of the bill appeared on the Commons order paper and was given by Mr. Trudeau because the minister responsible for housing, Transport Minister Paul Hellyer, has resigned effective Wednesday.

Other proposed amendments to the National Housing Act contained in the measure.

—An increase to $6,100,000,000 from $5,200,000,000 in the aggregate amount which may be advanced to Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. for direct loans.

—An increase to $600,000,000 from $350,000,000 in the maximum liability of CMHC for guaranteeing house improvement and extension loans.

—Inclusion of costs of improving lands or buildings in the costs of an urban renewal scheme, toward which CMHC may contribute.

—Extension of CMHC's authority to make loans for improvement of student housing projects.

Other proposed amendments were announced by Mr. Trudeau in the Commons Friday in a debate dealing with Mr. Hellyer's resignation on the housing issue.

They concerned mainly an increase in maximum NHA mortgages to $25,000 from $18,000 on new homes and to $18,000 from $10,000 on existing homes. The mortgage term would be increased to 40 from 35 years.

Construction Still Halted By Plumbers

Striking plumbers' union pickets continue to tie up construction projects across the province today, with no further developments in the union's rejection Sunday of a wage settlement offer by the Mechanical Industrial Relations Association, representing employers.

Ninety-five per cent of the union's 2,000 members voted on MIRA proposal for an additional six cents an hour increase on a one-year contract, above the previously rejected pay rate of $1.42 an hour on a one-year contract, plus additional fringe benefits totalling 28 and-a-half cents an hour. The new offer would have brought the plumbers' basic rate to $5.66 by October from the present $4.18 rate.

Business agent, John Fisher, of local 170, said Sunday he has advised negotiators for MIRA that the union is ready to reopen contract talks immediately.

Besides Brenda Mines, Ltd., where plumbers' union picket lines paralyzed operations April 15, strike ripples have affected an estimated $25,000,000 worth of hospital construction across the province, including Kelowna's new hospital wing, where both electrical workers and members of the Lathers' Union refuse to cross plumbers' picket lines. In addition, 45 of nearly 90 contractors in the Lower Mainland have been affected by the strike.

Latest check with the Brenda Mines site today revealed no change in the strike picture where 100 pre-production workers are also striking.

Freighter Floating Inferno

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Fire broke out in the engine room of the 12,755-ton British tanker Mobile Apex today off the coast of St. Croix, U.S. Virgin Islands, and the United States Coast Guard reported the blaze was raging "out of control."

A coast guard spokesman said the vessel "is a floating inferno" and the U.S. Navy is rushing chemical foam by plane from Puerto Rico. Four tugs moved the flaming tanker from its anchorage a half-mile from the Hess Oil refinery to deep water.

The spokesman said the ship was loading 50,000 gallons of gasoline and 100,000 gallons of naphtha when the blaze broke out. The fire spread from the engine room to other parts of the ship.

The spokesman had said all hands were reported to have abandoned ship but later he amended it to say there was "a little skepticism" about the report. The number of crew members involved was unknown.

Paris Gold Price Declines Today

PARIS (AP) — The price of gold dropped in Paris today, selling for $48.58 U.S. an ounce, compared with the all-time high of $49.09 Monday after Charles de Gaulle's resignation as president of France.

Today's price was still higher than the record which preceded Monday's peak—$48.41 on March 10.

Money problems were expected to be a chief problem for France after de Gaulle's resignation. Premier Maurice Couve de Murville met today for the second straight day with Francois-Xavier Ortoli, minister of economy, and Oliver Wormser, governor of the Bank of France.

On the Frankfurt market, the U.S. dollar dropped to the year's lowest level, 3.9775 West German marks, and the Deutsche Bundesbank again lowered its intervention level to absorb the dollar influx.

Police Recover Stolen Securities

MONTREAL (CP) — Police acting on an anonymous telephone tip today recovered about $200,000 worth of securities, including stocks and bonds said to have been stolen last September from a firm that handles the affairs of Prime Minister Trudeau's family.

The exact amount taken from the offices of Trudeau and Elliott Estate Planning Inc. in the break-in last Sept. 17 was never disclosed. An authoritative source indicated the total was approximately $60,000.

OKANAGAN LAKE

Water Diversion Issue Undecided

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — An attempt to call Ray Williston, provincial water resources minister, and his deputy minister before the Commons standing committee on fisheries and forestry was left undecided Monday.

The proposal to call the two came while the committee heard from 14 organizations opposed to the British Columbia government's $16,000,000 plan to divert water into the Okanagan Valley area.

Doug Hogarth (L—New Westminster) said calling them might be unconstitutional after Mark Rose (NDP—Fraser Valley West) attempted to have them brought before the committee.

He said legal advice should be sought before the decision was made and the matter has been left until the MPs return to Ottawa. Most committee members said they would like to hear from the provincial government.

The project involves diverting more than 350,000 acre-feet of water into the Okanagan by a 30-foot canal, taking it from the Thompson-Shuswap watershed's Mabel Lake near Endersby.

The committee was told people in the area are suspicious of the plan and Ray Perrault (L—Burnaby-Seymour) said it "is a matter of concern" where water will be found for a distillery planned for the area.

A Great Deal Of Work Done By Only Verbal Agreement

OTTAWA (CP) — Members of the Commons public accounts committee charged today that government officials gave them misleading and incomplete information about the cost of furniture repairs on the aircraft carrier Bonaventure.

The charge was denied by R. D. Wallace, associate director of the supply and services department's shipbuilding branch.

The problem arose over interpretation of the specifications and job descriptions prepared by the government's experts during the 1966-67 refit of the carrier by Davie Shipbuilding Ltd. in Lauzon, Que.

Did the experts really calculate, for example, that it would take $20 worth of material and 15 hours to check and make the necessary repairs to a pinnor on a medicine cabinet, and $54 in material and 26 hours of work to fix two hinges on the drop-leaf of a desk?

The experts said no, of course not. The explanation was that the detailed specifications, which the committee publicized on a visit to the carrier in Halifax last month, came nowhere close to covering all the work actually done.

Mr. Wallace said all the cabin furniture on the Bonaventure was fixed, where necessary, and refinished, not just the items mentioned in the specifications.

MADE NEW AGREEMENT — Mr. Wallace said the specifications proved to be inadequate after the carrier had entered drydock. Therefore, while the ship was under refit, the navy, the defence production department and the contractor reached a verbal agreement on the refinishing of all its cabin furniture.

Harold Winch (NDP—Vancouver East) asked how much work aboard the Bonaventure was done by verbal agreement. "A great deal," said Lt. Cmdr. R. J. Hanlon, the navy's chief construction and repair inspector for Quebec yards.

"Is it good practice to have verbal agreements on government contract?" Mr. Winch asked.

Cmdr. Hanlon said he takes the responsibility for "a sad lack of homogeneity" in the specifications given to the Davie company when it was found the furniture work orders had to be revised. But he said a great deal had to be done in a hurry because of the deadline for the entire refit.

Mr. Wallace said the Bonaventure would still be in the Lauzon yard if detailed specifications had been prepared for every furniture job. He said the contractor was given a detailed list of furniture work when the ship arrived in Lauzon.

The defence production department, predecessor to supply and services, had calculated the amount of time and materials needed for various jobs for a basis in judging the contractor's quotation.

The list given the contractor was an "outdated list," Mr. Wallace said. L. E. St. Laurent, the department's chief estimator for the job, visited the ship in Lauzon and concluded within a week that the general condition of the furniture was worse than they had thought and the written specifications were therefore "not all-embracing."

Norman Cafik (L—Ontario) said he agrees it is virtually impossible to prepare item-by-item specifications for a complete furniture job on a ship as big as the Bonaventure within a reasonable period of time. He wondered, therefore, why the original specifications had been so detailed.

Air Canada And The Union Back Where They Started

MONTREAL (CP) — Air Canada and the striking International Association of Machinists are back where they started today, trying to find a way to get together on key issues and end the strike of 6,600 ground employees now in its ninth day.

Negotiating teams from both sides returned to Montreal Monday after talks aimed at settling the dispute in Ottawa broke off Sunday. There are no plans for further meetings between the parties.

The company and the union had been in Ottawa since Thursday on the invitation of Labor Minister Bryce Mackenzie. Prior to the move, the negotiators were in Montreal meeting separately with federal mediators most of the time.

Bernard Wilson, assistant deputy labor minister and one of the mediators, said at the breakdown of the talks in Ottawa the two sides were "very, very far apart."

Air Canada has offered the union a 23-per-cent increase in a three-year contract.

The union originally asked for 20 per cent in a one-year contract to try to gain wage parity with union members in the United States. However, by the time talks broke off it had come down to 24 per cent in two years.

In Ottawa, Mike Ryggas, Canadian vice-president of the union, said it is ready to resume negotiations with the company.

He issued a statement following a comment in the House of Commons earlier Monday by Mr. Mackenzie that the government is adopting a hands-off attitude towards the situation.

AS NEXT PRIME MINISTER

Faulkner Favorite In N. Ireland

BELFAST (CP) — Brian Faulkner emerged today as the favorite to become Northern Ireland's prime minister by the weekend.

Faulkner was understood to have the support of rebel factions in the governing Unionist party who helped force the resignation yesterday of Capt. Terence O'Neill as party leader.

O'Neill, 54, prime minister for six years, said he would give up that post as soon as a successor is chosen to head the party. The Unionists are expected to meet Thursday for that purpose.

Faulkner, 48, was O'Neill's deputy prime minister and commerce minister but quit in January because O'Neill would not grant the Roman Catholics demand for universal suffrage in municipal elections. O'Neill finally agreed to the suffrage demand last week, but he could not restore unity to his party.

Faulkner also has said he would deal firmly with the street battles between Roman Catholic civil rights agitators and militant Protestants.

O'Neill is believed to favor his former agriculture minister, J. D. Chichester-Clark, but informed sources said Faulkner has more support so far.

Faulkner is popular among the party's traditionalists and particularly the right-wing. Observers suggest that while there will be opposition to Faulkner, he can win easily if he pledges not to bring former home secretary William Craig back into the cabinet. Craig was kicked out last December for allegedly inciting the police to press hard against the Roman Catholic street demonstrators.

Craig, assisted by Rev. Ian Paisley and his Protestant extremists, worked hard since then to oust O'Neill.

With O'Neill's sudden announcement Monday night to quit, Craig immediately declared his support for Faulkner, who, he said, is the man who can reunite the party and Ulster community. While Faulkner, former commerce minister, is undoubtedly out in front, Chichester-Clark, 40, former agriculture minister, is likely to be a contender supported by the party's more moderate faction.

Chichester-Clark quit his cabinet post last week when O'Neill rammed through his one-man, one-vote policy, gaining only a small parliamentary party majority.

Protestant extremists showed their joy at O'Neill's departure by burning bonfires on Belfast street corners.

And in London, while the Labor government declined to comment, there was concern in government quarters that O'Neill's resignation may be a blow for moderation in Northern Ireland.

In the Irish Republic, there also was concern, expressed by Prime Minister John Lynch, that if the resignation means turning back on O'Neill's policies, "the consequences could well prove tragic."

Ulster's civil rights movement, made up largely of Roman Catholics, has decided to continue plans for a civil disobedience program to press for equal rights in housing and jobs as well as equal voting rights.

Bernadette Devlin, the fiery 22-year-old member of Parliament who represents the demonstrators at Westminster, said none of Ulster's depressed will mean the passing of O'Neill. He had made pledges and did not fulfil them, she said, and he hesitated too long.

U.S. Hiding Real Number Of War Deaths—Senator

An outspoken Senate critic of the Vietnam war says the United States defence department is hiding the real number of U.S. battle deaths from the public by saying many are accidental. Senator Stephen M. Young (Dem. Ohio) said many of the approximately 6,000 American deaths in Vietnam designated "accidental or incident" should have been listed as battle fatalities.

The B.C. Mediation Commission Monday appointed mediator G. C. Leonard to try to settle a contract dispute between the Painters Union, Local 138, and the Master Painters and Contractors Association. The arbitrators asked for the union members rejected a $135 hourly pay increase spread over two years on the present rate of $3.96 hourly.

Seventeen-year-old Bruce Clark might have spent Monday collecting garbage in Vancouver. But by the luck of the draw he ended up dining with some "cool" MPs in the parliamentary restaurant. Bruce's name was pulled from a hat to make him "Member of Parliament for a day" as part of North Vancouver's Youth Action Day. Some of his fellow Grade 12 students were collecting garbage, delivering the mail or sweeping the streets under the same program. Bruce admits he got the plum job.

The national Indian conference Monday passed a resolution asking Indian Affairs Minister Jean Chretien to increase the number of delegates from each province at future conferences.

The conference spent the full day debating how many delegates from each of the provinces should attend such meetings and agreed finally there should be one delegate for every 5,000 Indians.

A student charged with trafficking in marijuana wrote a university examination Monday in the chapel of the Don Jail in Toronto. Anatole Stepa, 19, a second year University of Toronto arts and science student, was jailed Friday after being charged with possession of five pounds of marijuana for the purpose of trafficking. He wrote his final examination in American history while seated at a school desk placed in the chapel. A university official supervised.

A California prison official says there have been rumors that an attempt would be made on the life of Sirhan Bishara Sirhan, assassin of Robert F. Kennedy, if he goes to San Quentin prison. "They were nothing you could put your fingers on or director deputy corrections would validate," Lawrence Wilson, state, said Monday. "Just the institutional rumors that there could be some reprisals taken."

The moderator of the United Church of Canada suggested Monday in Toronto that parents unwilling to care for their children should be sterilized. Dr. Robert McClure, who emphasized he was speaking as a gynecologist and not on behalf of the church, said compulsory sterilization is the only way society can protect itself against "unconcerned people who produce children and then hand them over to the government to raise.

A government amendment designed to permit more flexibility in court handling of marijuana and other narcotics cases was introduced in the Commons health committee Monday night. Promised more than a month ago by Health Minister John Munro, the amendment would permit possession to be classed as a summary as well as an indictable offence. J. D. McCarthy, general counsel for the health department, said it would permit narcotics cases to be dealt with by a broader range of courts and would relieve courts now "chock full" of marijuana cases.

Revised proposals for taxing life insurance companies, tabled in the Commons by federal Finance Minister Edgar Benson, were welcomed Monday by K. R. MacGregor, president of the Canadian Life Insurance Association. Mr. MacGregor said the association's main concern was that Canadian life insurance companies and their 11,000,000 policy holders "be treated fairly in comparison with competing financial institutions and their customers."

Quebec Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand said Monday the federal government will have to stop invading provincial jurisdictions if federalism is to achieve "equilibrium." Mr. Bertrand said he believed in a strong federal system since three of the strongest nations of the world—the United States, the Soviet Union and West Germany—had adopted it. But the Canadian version lacks harmony.

Howling husky dogs waited their welcome for Gov.-Gen. Roland Michener Monday as he visited an Eskimo settlement located in a beautiful valley surrounded by towering hills on the southern coast of Ellesmere Island. The Governor General and Mrs. Michener and their party, whose 11-day, 9,000-mile tour of Canada's eastern Arctic and Keewatin regions ends Friday, made a six-hour stop in the community of about 100 Eskimos after travelling from their base at Resolute on Cornwallis Island in three DC-3 aircraft.

J. Leonard Walker, president of the Bank of Montreal, announced plans Monday night in Montreal to expand the bank's operations in California by the establishment of a full-service branch in San Diego. The San Diego branch will be the fourth office of the Bank of Montreal in California, a wholly-owned subsidiary, whose head office is in San Francisco. Other branches are in Los Angeles and Sacramento.

A Molotov cocktail was thrown into the east-end home of Paul-Emile Sauvageau, member of the Quebec national assembly for Bourget, shortly before midnight Monday, police said early today. The unknown person or persons smashed a kitchen window and threw in two gas-filled bottles taped together.

The device landed only a few feet away from where Mr. Sauvageau, his wife and her brother were sitting. The bottles did not break and the lit wick was snuffed out when the device struck the floor.

Two Toronto newspaper men were each sentenced Monday to 14 years in jail after they pleaded guilty to charges which arose from the import of 150 pounds of marijuana. Sydney Durward Terry Tremayne, 34, had earlier pleaded guilty to a charge of possession of trafficking and Donald MacRitchie Johnston pleaded guilty to conspiring to import the marijuana. The sentences are believed to be the stiffest ever imposed in Canada for marijuana convictions. The men, editorial employees of The Globe and Mail at the time of arrest last November, are eligible for parole in four years.

Combines Branch Reviews Charges By B.C. Druggists

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal combines branch is reviewing a situation in which British Columbia druggists are charging $1 to fill welfare prescriptions, Grace MacInnis (NDP—Vancouver-Kingsway) told the Commons Monday night.

Stanley Haidass, parliamentary secretary to Consumer Affairs Minister Ron Basford, said pharmacists have been warned repeatedly against attempts at formula pricing.

A complaint by B.C. Welfare Minister Dan Campbell about the $1 surcharge being levied in an attempt by druggists to get B.C. to raise their return on welfare prescriptions, had been turned over to the combines branch.

Mrs. MacInnis said 65,000

British Columbians are unable to work and are on welfare. They draw $20,000 prescriptions, paid for by the B.C. government, in the 1967-68 fiscal year.

A single person on welfare in B.C. got $75 monthly, a couple $145, and a couple with two children $191. If druggists charged them $1 for each prescription, they would probably stop having them filled.

She said Mr. Campbell had noted that B.C. druggists mark up welfare prescriptions by at least 66 2/3 per cent now.

The druggists were "fattening themselves like leeches" on the poor, who were hostages in a battle to pressure the government into paying more for welfare drugs.

Rutland Bowlers Relax At Banquet And Dance

The Rutland Centennial 111 was the scene of a highly enjoyable banquet and dance Saturday sponsored by the Rutland Bowling Association.

Some 300 or more persons were in attendance and enjoyed a turkey dinner prepared by a committee of local ladies, headed by Mrs. Mary Gelowitz, a tireless worker for the Centennial Hall. A group of young high school students served the supper. There was a long head table across the width of the hall, at which members of the executive and heads of the various leagues that make up the association were seated, and in addition other head table guests included Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Snook, Mr. and Mrs. William Thomas, and Mr. and Mrs. Art Gray, Kelowna Courier representatives.

Following the dinner Miss Rutland, Virginia Husch, accompanied by her Princess, Paulette Winter were escorted to the stage by Mr. Snook and Mr. Thomas, and the ceremonies connected with the presentation of the many and varied awards commenced.

Rudy Runzer, president of the Rutland Bowling Association, was in charge of the proceedings as master of ceremonies. Some of the awards had already been presented at banquets held early by some of the leagues, but were on display, and the names of the winners were announced, and the recipients stood up and were introduced to the gathering.

The high presentation of the youngsters who had proved so successful in the Youth Bowling contests. Chairman Runzer, in his opening remarks, had jokingly commented that the Rutland Bowling Association was "just about broke" due to spending more than had been anticipated on the program.

A total of 174 young bowlers had participated during the season, coached by adult bowlers, and had given a good account of themselves in the Western Canada championships. With three teams in the B.C. Finals, the local youth bowlers won seven gold, eight silver and five bronze medals. In the Pee-wee division, nine and under, Susan Metzger won a gold medal in the handicap event; in the Bantam division, 11 years and under, Karlene Charlton came up with an average of 150 in four games to be a Western Canada champion; the third winner, also from the Bantam division was Douglas Runzer, 11, with a 201 average in four games.

The championship games were played simultaneously in various parts of Western Canada. The young bowling champs were given a standing ovation.

In the various leagues the winning teams and the top scorers were as follows: Sunday Night League: League winners, Dumbos; Roll-off winners, Dally's. Top scorers: ladies high single, Linda Ueda, 375; high three, Grace Naka, 825; high average, Dot, Ueda, 210. Men's high single, Harry Chiba, 410; high three, Bob Naka, 1003; high average, Lou Matsuda, 235.

"400" Club awards went to the following individuals—Denis Casey, 417; Bert George, 401; Harry Chiba, 410; Cliff High, 401 and Lou Matsuda, 433.

Winfield bowlers, included in the Rutland Bowling League organization, and sponsored by Rutland in the beginning, were represented by Bert George, who reported on their progress and expressed appreciation of the backing given by the Rutland bowling group.

The Wednesday Men's League, and A Flight roll-off winners were Rutland Meat Market; B Flight winners were the Snip and Clip; high scorers in the league were: high average, Vic Emery, 247; high single, Cliff High, 401; team high score, Okanagan 1550; team high three, Kelowna Trophy Jewelers, 424.

Hockey Game A Tourniquet

WINFIELD (Special) — Hockey had a detrimental effect on the Red Cross Blood Donor's Clinic held in the Memorial Hall Thursday. There were 127 donors with seven medical rejects which resulted in 120 pints of blood donated.

The members of the Hospital Auxiliary which sponsored the clinic felt that the hockey game between Boston and Montreal which went into two overtime periods kept some of the regular donors at their radios and TV sets for there was a good turnout of new donors especially from the older students at George Elliot Secondary School.

STUDENTS CONSIDER URBAN PROBLEMS

Four students from a Kelowna Secondary School social studies class accept a cheque for $50 from Mayor R. F. Parkinson, left, on behalf of the city. The mayor and an alderman were impressed by a presentation made by the students on various aspects of city planning and operation. The urban course now underway by two Grade 11 classes at the school is an experiment, preceding a province-wide introduction of the course within several years. The city's cheque will be used to start an urban library at KSS. With the four students is George Barnes, chairman of the Kelowna Advisory Planning Commission, which worked closely with the students while they prepared their reports. (Courier photo)

Sounds Of Music Ringing Out Here

And the music plays on... for the second day of the 43rd Annual Okanagan Valley Music Festival at the Kelowna Community Theatre.

Choir voices rang out and Mozart and Haydn were wooed by youthful keyboard fingers for most of Monday's afternoon and evening program, while adjudicators listened attentively.

First afternoon trophy to be won was the Elsie L. Chugg award for best vocal group in the Grade 8 to 9 choir class, going to the Enderby Junior Secondary School choir, conducted by Mrs. E. E. Revel with marks of 80 and 81. Runners-up was the Shuswap Junior Secondary School choir, conducted by John Dahm with marks of 78 and 79. For the M. V. Beattie Elementary School Grade 7 choir, under Mrs. E. E. Revel, there was a certificate of merit on marks of 75 and 77.

A certificate of merit also went to the Similkameen Junior Secondary School, Keremeos, on marks of 81 and 82 in the French choir class. The latter was conducted by Mrs. M. J. Wendt.

Faring better in the Grades 1 and 2 classroom choir class, the Okanagan Mission School group, under Mrs. J. Armstrong, walked away with the J. W. Jones Cup with consistent marks of 82 and 82. Hard on their heels was the Grade 1 Gordon Elementary School choir with an 80 and an 82 mark, under Mrs. M. Alder. Third place honors went to the Lakeview Heights Grade 1 and 2 choir, conducted by Mrs. A. U. Stewart for marks of 79 and 79.

Vocal mastery by the Kamloops Girls' Choir breezed away with the Joyce L. Stewart trophy in the girls under 19 years category on high marks of 85 and 86. The group was conducted by Mrs. Marion Owens. Second placers was the Mica Creek choir, under Mrs. Ruth Garnett, on marks of 78 and 79. The Mica Creek representation came back to win the DeBeek trophy in the rural and small school class with marks of 79 and 82. Mrs. Ruth Garnett was conductor.

In the instrumental string ensemble class, the Pentonite School entry, under Mrs. Barbara Smith, was awarded a certificate of merit on a mark of 78.

Pentonite scored again in the Piano Solo under 10 years class, with David Galt taking first place honors with a mark of 80 over competitors, Nicky Samson, and Mary Yavonich, both of Kelowna, with tying marks of 79. Mr. Galt was awarded a certificate of merit. Kelowna came back with a win in the Piano Solo, under 11 years, with Lorena Marin, of Kelowna, taking the major honors with a mark of 83, against second and third place winners, Gail Hayashi, and Carolyn Dyck, of Kelowna, with respective marks of 81 and 80. Other contestants with marks of 79, each included Mark Link, Denise Dick, Kenneth Schlenker, Robert Anderson, and Lori Saunders, all of Kelowna. Others included Darlene Bachmann of Kelowna, 78, Dorothy Schipfel, of Vernon, 76, and Shannon Hayley, of Kelowna, 73.

In the battle of the song open class, the Vernon Riding Club group beat out the Mica Creek Girls' choir by three points to win the Kelowna legion trophy with a mark of 83, against Mica Creek's mark of 80, for a certificate of merit. Also awarded certificates of merit were tying contestants, Leslie Cryderman, of Pentonite, and Margaret Daniel, of Kelowna, who registered marks of 79 each in the Piano Solo class under 18 years. Second place runners-up, David Paulson, of Vernon, and Rosemary Wilson, of Kelowna, tied with 78 marks each. Pamela Lipsack, of Pentonite, came in with a mark of 72.

Adjudicators were Mrs. Marjorie Beckett and Mrs. Thomas Rolston.

Traffic, Liquor Charges Dominate Court's Docket

Today in magistrate's court Jaginder Basran, of Basran Holdings Ltd., Rutland, was fined $50 each on four counts of operating trucks on provincial highways when overweight. The charges were laid March 31 under the Department of Commercial Transport Act, on advice of Kelowna government weigh scale officials. The accused pleaded guilty to all four charges.

Norman William Roberts, Rutland, was fined the minimum levy of $35 after pleading guilty to a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way to approaching highway traffic.

Roberts was charged Wednesday as a result of a $1,000 damage accident at the Kelowna Airport exit to Highway 97 north, when his vehicle was struck broadside after proceeding onto the highway from a stop sign.

Court was told the accused's vision had been blocked by an oncoming gravel truck which was turning into the airport and that he escaped injury in the mishap probably because he was wearing a seat belt.

Said magistrate White: "This is a portion of the highway I recommended a month ago to provide for another lane for traffic turning into the airport."

Other court business today included fines of $50 and $100 respectively levied upon Kenneth Tucker, Kelowna, after he pleaded guilty to charges of being in possession of liquor while a minor and driving without due care and attention; a $35 fine to Donald Lloyd Kennedy, Westbank, for following another vehicle too closely; Daniel Richard Coe, Kelowna, $150 for driving without due care and attention April 12.

Matilda Eleanor Legos, Kelowna, pleaded guilty to a Monday charge of theft under $50 from a local food store. Court was told the accused had stolen a "tenderized steak" and a bag of candy, valued together at $1.80 from Canada Safeway, Kelowna. The case was set over Wednesday pending acquisition of further information.

ANNUAL TALKS

The Central Okanagan Regional Hospital District will hold its annual meeting at the Kelowna Health Centre Wednesday at 2 p.m. One of the major items on the agenda is expected to be reviewing of the hospital budget, and other administrative matters.

CITY COUNCIL AT WORK

Another Round In The Pandosy Battle

Argument about the widening of Pandosy Street broke out at city council meeting Monday, with Ald. Richard Stewart charging that buying up land piecemeal is "short-sighted" and "premature." He opposed a resolution authorizing the city's land agent to acquire land along Pandosy Street between Lake Avenue and Park Avenue.

"You can't negotiate without knowing how much you can spend," he said. The other aldermen agreed they were voting on "something without knowing how much it will cost," but approved the motion Council was told it would be at least several months before the city knows what land, and at what cost, will be needed for widening from Park Avenue to the city limits.

A motion to sponsor a banquet July 23 for the Babe Ruth League B.C. championships was withdrawn. Between 50 and 75 people will be in the city July 20 to 27 when eight provincial teams play off here. Mayor R. F. Parkinson wanted to know how far can the city go in sponsoring these banquets."

Council decided to leave the final approval of the request from the Kelowna and District Babe Ruth League until the staff administration has come up with a firm policy on banquets.

Council decided it could not support at present a policy brief on water diversion from the Shuswap River Control Association, a Salmon Arm citizen's association. The group asked council's endorsement of a brief to be sent to the B.C. department of lands, forests and water resources. Instead, the aldermen were reminded by the mayor about a meeting Thursday in Pentonite of the Okanagan Water Basin Board and the Okanagan Watershed Pollution Control Council.

A government arbitration on the cost of a piece of land on Poplar Point was "very, very much in the city's favor," Mayor Parkinson told the council. Long-time negotiations for the property, adjacent to the city's water pumping station, are at an end with council to pay $30,000 for the land. Only $10,000 is left to pay, and the city will write a cheque within 30 days. The original asking price for the property was $75,000.

A letter from A. L. Pearson, assistant deputy attorney-general informed council that the RCMP detachment here will be strengthened in the near future. Two additional highway patrol members will be transferred to this post, and by 1970 or 1971 two permanent highway patrol members and two additional district detachment members may be stationed here.

Mayor Parkinson endorsed a proclamation naming Canadian Mental Health Week the period between Thursday and Wednesday.

Council decided to stick with a previous zoning ruling in regard to a rezoning application by Mervyn Motors Ltd., 1575 Water St. The company wanted to expand its operation to an adjacent lot, but the second piece of land would have to be rezoned. However, due to a

Program Begun On CA Storage

Sun-Rype Products Ltd. has begun its Valley-wide expansion of controlled atmosphere storage facilities with the announcement of a $300,000 plant near Vernon. Although the federal government has turned down an Okanagan fruit industry request for area incentive grants to help finance the new CA facilities, construction will go ahead.

Kelowna and Oliver already have CA facilities, and these will be expanded. Vernon will get its first plant this year; or a year later if the 1969 crop does not warrant the added storage. Construction could start on the Long Lake Road in May.

Sun-Rype bought its new Vernon site at an undisclosed price from Rennie Lumber Ltd. which operates a sawmill and lumberyard there now.

A spokesman for B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd., the marketing arm of Sun-Rype, said today the industry will re-submit its request for federal aid to Ottawa. New evidence and statements from authorities on the necessity of CA facilities will be included.

Even without government support, the CA facilities will be built, to boost the fruit industry's present 44 rooms of CA storage to an eventual 111 rooms. The increase has been made necessary by a predicted increase in the apple crop from 9,000,000 boxes in 1969 to 11,000,000 by the 1973 harvest.

No word about when construction in Kelowna or Oliver will commence has been released.

The controlled atmosphere facilities permit apples to be processed, then stored at temperatures near or below the freezing point in a low-oxygen atmosphere.

The process puts the fruit in a state of "suspended animation" by reducing breathing of the apples, keeping them fresh for far longer periods of time than with older storage methods.

If You Want To Avoid Fine Get Studs Off By Wednesday

When you take off those studied tires, and you should by midnight Wednesday if you want to avoid a fine from $25 to $500, here are a few tips from a company that makes the cylindrical safety rubber.

Before removing, mark the direction of rotation with chalk to guarantee the angle of wear will not be reversed when the tires are re-mounted next winter. If the tires moved in the opposite direction, says the company, the worn faces of the studs would hit the road at a different angle, with danger of working loose from their sockets. Tires should be stored in a cool place, out of direct exposure to sunlight since ozone, caused by sunlight, has an adverse affect on rubber.

Tires should be washed to remove dirt and salt which, although non-damaging to rubber, dulls the tire's appearance. They should, suggests the company, be stacked singly on their sides, or if stored on top of each other, laid white sidewall to white sidewall to keep the white rubber clean and fresh.

If the old bus isn't going to be used, and you don't want to bother removing the studded tires, pressure should be reduced from normal level.

Cap and Gown Deal For Dogs

There were several top dogs at the badminton hall Sunday, all matriculating from the Kelowna Parks and Recreation winter dog obedience classes. The graduation exercises were under the trained eye of Mrs. Lawrence Brovold, Okanagan Valley Dog Obedience Club instructor.

Winner of the trophy in the small dog class was Joanne Drinkwater, with her poodle Muffin.

Public relations director, Mrs. H. C. Dunlop, reported the handlers' class was won by the graduating dog Minx, a Labrador owned by Ian Dunlop, but handled by Alfred Fletcher.

The large dog class was taken by Wilfred Akerlund with his weimeraner Kai, and second highest marks went to John Buckley and his Chesapeake, Prince.

The junior handlers' class (under 14 years) was won by Terry Jennings and his collie cross Rex, with Karen Weinberg and her spaniel cross Rex taking second place honors.

Commented Mrs. Dunlop, "I don't think the dogs were the only ones who learned a lot during the classes."

The training courses will begin again in September.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett will speak at a special dinner at 7 p.m. Saturday in the Capri, also to be attended by Frank Richter, MLA for Okanagan-Similkameen and minister of mines and petroleum resources, and Mrs. Patricia Jordan, MLA for North Okanagan and minister without portfolio.

Premier Bennett will report on matters of importance to his constituency and the province as a whole, said Ted Thorburn, president of the South Okanagan Community Association. The public is invited to attend Saturday's dinner. Tickets are available at $2.50 each.

Social Studies Project Turns Into Invitation

An enthusiastic group of Kelowna Secondary School grade 11 students may find they have bitten off a bit more than they can chew.

Involved in a social studies pilot project on urban studies, the students told city council Monday just what they thought of Kelowna.

And for their efforts, they were immediately invited by several aldermen to sit on some of the city's advisory committees.

With help from city hall's planning department, the students from two KSS classes set about searching into and solving some of the old headaches suffered yearly by council.

As presented Monday night, some ideas would give a city planner nightmares. Some were awkwardly written, others bordering on the far-fetched.

But armed with youthful enthusiasm and an uncanny ability to zero in on the city's "old chestnut" problems, the students provided a breath of fresh air with their ideas. There was some shrewd thinking behind most of the reports.

And a lot of work. Even a few adventures. Council was told about one student surveying the city's populace who was locked into a house by one resident, who forced the student to empty the film from his camera.

One topic thoroughly discussed by the students gained particular interest from the aldermen—how to attain the beach area within city boundaries from present property owners.

In conducting a survey of lakefront property owners, students Gerry Gray, Dave Brown, Steve Markle and Jim Cronin discovered that "almost 98 per cent of the people would have nothing to do" with the idea of their beach being turned over to the public—at any price.

The students suggested the city buy the land, but found the reaction of owners just as unfavorable. This left the only alternative of buying the land over a long period of time, as it became available, and reselling those portions not needed for beach recreation and parking facilities.

Ald. E. R. Winter said he brought up the same suggestions as long ago as 1957, and said a fund should be set up to begin buying the land.

The students also delved into downtown urban renewal, with a public mall the main suggestion.

MALL SUGGESTED

Separate groups of students suggested Bertram Street, Lawrence Avenue and Water Street for the location of permanent mall areas; and provided thorough and imaginative documentation for their project.

Students Doug Walman and John Kirk took up "the problem of housing in Kelowna's industrial area", with a suggestion that residents in the north industrial section of the city, along the lake front, should be moved to separate low-cost housing projects. Backing up this submission was another on urban renewal by Marg Wapnick, Carole April, Barb Farris and Cecilia Low.

Along with photographs and maps, the hefty book of student suggestions was accepted with thanks by council. Various advisory commissions will make use of the student briefs in future planning, the students were told.

Talks Tonight, Wednesday On Rutland Swimming Pool

Two meetings are being held in the Rutland-Elision area tonight and Wednesday evenings.

They deal with a proposal to finance construction of a swimming pool in the Rutland-Centennial Park, partially through the Central Okanagan Regional District. The total cost of the proposed pool is given as $100,000, of which the Rutland Agricultural Society is prepared to put up $60,000. This money came from sale of land held by the Society as a holding company for the Rutland BCGFA local.

The meetings will seek to have resident voters of two areas approve the raising of an additional $40,000. Proponents of the plan say amortization of this sum over a 10 year period could be accomplished with an increase of only seven-tenths of a mill in taxation.

That a new pool is urgently needed by the growing community is undeniable. Rutland Recreation Commission officials are unanimous in their support for a new swimming pool. The old pool, adjoining the new Centennial Hall, cannot meet government present day requirements, and will not be operated. If the meetings of Areas I and C approve resolutions in favor of referendums on the subject, public meetings will be held to enable the voters to become familiar with the situation.

SEEN and HEARD

What motivates people to do the things they do is sometimes less than obvious. A stout young man was seen Monday afternoon walking along Bernard Avenue. Nothing unusual about that. But then, for no apparent reason, he reached out and struck a passing boy — a hefty back-hand blow that almost sent the youth off his feet.

Movie stars and Hollywood personalities have been known to don disguises and show up in extremely unlikely places. Maybe we have one in Kelowna. Listed among the names of the contestants in the annual Okanagan Music Festival is Dean Martin. If he starts with "Everybody loves somebody", we'll know for sure.

Motorist Released

A Vernon man, released from Kelowna General Hospital Monday, was not as seriously injured in a weekend accident as was first indicated. Ewald Scholler, driver of a car that collided with another vehicle Sunday on Highway 97 near Wood Lake, did not suffer serious injuries. He was listed as being in only "fair" condition, but was released later in the day.

Henry Wold, Rutland, driver of the other vehicle, was not injured in the $1,800 crash.

Talks Here For Bottlers

The British Columbia Soft Drink Association is scheduled to meet May 10 in the Capri for its semi-annual convention, expected to be attended by about 75 bottlers and supplier representatives.

The one-day affair has on its agenda discussion of the continuing anti-litter campaign, increasing costs and what to do about them and an open forum for delegates' views.

Asked if any price boost was anticipated in the industry, local representative Fred Denchuk, said, "No, not in the immediate future. We're trying right now to keep our costs down, although many suppliers are having to increase theirs."

The association is made up of 17 bottlers from around the province.

Another unlimited hydroplane race has sunk off the circuit. Joining Kelowna as a former race stage is Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, which has junked plans to stage the annual Diamond Cup race Aug. 10. Officials said rising costs, and a lack of interest (an estimated $80,000 price tag) led to the decision. The situation apparently is much the same as it was here after the second running of the British Columbia race circuit in 1966. The 1966 unlimited race circuit is now down to eight races, the same as last year, but at least two fewer than officials consider ideal.

Pres. de Gaulle Departs

Charles de Gaulle on Monday resigned as president of France. The resignation came scant hours after the French people had given de Gaulle his first electoral setback in his life, by defeating his proposals in a referendum few other Frenchmen considered so important. De Gaulle had stated that if the referendum was defeated, he would resign.

The manner of his going has spoiled child overtones. While he had said he would resign his going was rather precipitate and his announcement was very curt. Still, de Gaulle throughout his life had been governed by one rule: play my way or I will not play at all. He always considered himself as a man of destiny who could do no wrong and during the war, when he led the resistance movements in France from London, he was a constant thorn in the side of Churchill, Roosevelt and Eisenhower.

De Gaulle's resignation ends an era in France. De Gaulle had been France's head for ten years and that country's most powerful head of state since Napoleon III. He came out of retirement in 1958 to avert the threat of civil war, restore his country's international prestige and create the Fifth Republic with a constitution tailor-made to fit his own commanding role.

A towering—if not always popular—figure in the modern world, de Gaulle did much to reverse the slight trend to international cooperation back to nationalism. He speaks always of the glory of France, much as French royal rulers did in those days when France dominated Europe. He has been the subject of endless controversy and has frequently been the object of bitter attacks from those who had once rallied to him. Autocratic and independent, he irritated both Roosevelt and Churchill and, by his independent action in entering Paris too soon, nearly aborted the allies' offensive against the Germans. He antagonized the United States by his increasing disengagement from NATO, obstructed the Americans in Europe and openly disagreed with them over Vietnam. He made himself very unpopular in many countries by vetoing British entry into the European Common Market.

And we do not forget that he antagonized the Canadian government and English Canada when, in an emotional speech in Montreal, he uttered the rallying cry of Quebec separatists: "Vive le Quebec Libre".

Rebuked by the federal government, he cut short his state visit to this country. Since then there have been additional disagreements, mostly created by his penchant of treating Quebec like an independent nation.

On the other side of the coin, de Gaulle has revolutionized French political institutions. He put an end to the war in Algeria and led the Algerians to independence. Other French African colonies were given their independence and he retained their friendship for France. He insisted on France having its independent atomic armaments program and refused to sign the partial nuclear test ban treaty. And only last May-June he dramatically faced the near rebellion of students and labor, took stiff measures to deal with the trouble-makers and in a quick election won the overwhelming support of the French people. Last November, he refused to bow to international pressure to devalue the French franc during a financial crisis and announced instead severe austerity measures.

And now de Gaulle has departed from the world scene. He is probably too advanced in years to make a reappearance. It is still too early to assess the effects of his departure. On Monday gold prices rose and the English pound and the French franc dropped on European markets, but there was no sign of the major monetary crisis expected by the experts in the wake of the resignation of de Gaulle. That resignation raised new doubts about the future of the franc since only the stubborn old president's determination had prevented devaluation last fall. Devaluation of the franc would have wide repercussions affecting every currency in the world and particularly the English pound and, perhaps, the West German mark.

The departure of the general may mean a change in French policy toward the British entry into the Common Market and, too, its policy toward NATO. Much, of course, will depend upon who is elected his successor in the election which must take place in the next few weeks.

Perhaps there will be no tears shed for the departure of de Gaulle, but at the same time there must be apprehension about the effects of his departure on France itself and the world in general. Time only can provide the answers.

RESPECT FOR DEAD

Sir: Where is the honor and respect that should be shown to the dead?

I recently attended a funeral in Kelowna and was very disappointed in the general attitude of the drivers of Kelowna.

During the funeral procession the cars kept cutting in and out of the procession.

All the lights were on to indicate it was a funeral procession.

CURIOUS DISAPPOINTED VISITOR

Sir: I am writing this letter regarding the traffic problem on Pandosy Street.

I came to Kelowna in 1960 and purchased a home at 1928 Pandosy. This home had no driveway into the yard from the street so I went to the city engineer to get a permit to put one in.

He gave me a very definite "no" because of the traffic hazard on Pandosy, then, in 1960. Six years later there were arguments being built on both sides of the street with driveways into each as well as many cars parked on the street. Now council is talking about buying some of the land to widen the street.

It seems to me that the council several years ago should have been trying to buy the land not waiting until now when the apartments are all built and the land is developed. This, however, is not very surprising because council can't seem to make a decision when faced with a real problem never mind making a decision for the future.

Another question is why there are cars lined up in front of the hospital congesting the street when the lots which the city bought remain empty. Possibly if parking was banned from the street or at least prohibited during rush hours as is the case in some cities much of the problem would be solved. Also council never mentions extending Ethel Street to KLO or Raymer Avenue thus drawing off some of the East Kelowna traffic from Pandosy and Richter.

A PUZZLED TAXPAYER

Sir: As a native Canadian enjoying the fine city of Kelowna, I am surprised that residents will endure three and a half hours of hockey over television when the official guide calls for news, weather, sports, community affairs and other entertainment.

I have skated and played the game among others but it must surely be a reflection on our North American intelligence for everyone to be glued to hockey for three hours plus.

If a poll was taken, that is of those who have not turned off their sets, I just wonder how many really wished to look at hockey players dashing over the ice guiding a puck. Since Kelowna has only one station other than cablevision I wonder how many total viewers with sets on or off are interested in this CBC offering?

HOCKEYMANIA?

Sir: The prime minister (from Quebec) calls the premier of that province "off his rocker", rebukes the press for invasion of his privacy as a public figure after ill-conceived events in England and altogether is becoming a puzzle at home and abroad.

So let us sleep all night with some more hockey.

CURIOUS

The prime minister (from Quebec) calls the premier of that province "off his rocker", rebukes the press for invasion of his privacy as a public figure after ill-conceived events in England and altogether is becoming a puzzle at home and abroad.

So let us sleep all night with some more hockey.

Sometimes I wonder if people are not being conditioned into being robots or already have arrived at that mechanical stage. CBC rarely offers anything controversial or stimulating. The public sleeps on and if we do not believe it look at Ottawa. From a minority government we go to the incredible Mr. Trudeau and cohorts. While we look at hockey, the framework of international defence is torn asunder and all but passed are laws permissive to homosexuality and bestiality. What triumph!

The details of these demands show, on examination that the blacks want to use the funds of the white establishment to fight the white establishment, or at least, that part of the white establishment which might disagree with the aims of the blacks. To forestall interference by the whites, the blacks demand complete autonomy for Black Studies departments at all universities, and want these departments staffed entirely by blacks and with black students only. The aim, say the blacks, is not to educate whites in the problems of the blacks: "we don't care about whites." This approach contravenes anti-segregation laws but that could be cured by new legislation.

NEWS ANALYSIS

Black Students Reason Oddly

By PHILIP DEANE, Foreign Affairs Analyst

Americans are not the only ones who were shocked by the sight of black militant students leaving a Cornell University building carrying firearms. The black students have since argued that they armed themselves only after right wing white students began organizing an armed raid against the Negroes who had occupied a building at Cornell.

The brutal incongruity of armed confrontations on campus may matter less than the motives which fuel the black student rebellion: they want, say the blacks, the right to "exist as a distinct category and to be elevated as such by any means necessary... like the French Canadians or the Jews," this is a quotation from a statement by Dr. Nathan Hare, Director of the Black Studies program at San Francisco State College.

IT'S SPRING, CHARLIE BROWN . . .

Spring this year brings the 'Peanuts' gang to the Registered Nurses' dance at the Aquatic, May 2. The theme of this year's event, co-convened by Mrs. C. J. LaGrue and Mrs. F. E. Bernier is It's Spring Charlie Brown. The evening commences with the Happiness Hour at 7 p.m., followed by a Red Baron of beef dinner. An array of unusual fashions will be displayed by several of the local doctors and nurses. Novelty dances and music complete the eve-

Bridal Couple Honored At Okanagan Centre

WINFIELD (Special) — A reception hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Douglas McDonald and Mr. and Mrs. Kuniyoshi Tamura was held at the McDonald home on Lakeshore Road, Okanagan Centre to honor Mr. and Mrs. Stan McDonald (nee Gayle Tamura) whose marriage took place on April 10 at Couer d'Alene, Idaho.

Bouquets of daffodils decorated the house as relatives and close friends gathered; refreshments were served buffet style and a beautifully decorated wedding cake was cut and served by the bride and groom. After the gifts were opened, all the ribbons and bows were pinned on an apron which the groom modelled bringing much laughter and comments from the guests.

Also in honor of Mrs. Stan McDonald a shower was held at the home of Mrs. L. G. Clement, assisted by her daughter Glenda and Mrs. Ray Holitzki. The honoree was completely surprised as she was welcomed to a chair under a tower of yellow and white streamers, yellow and white paper. Flowers also decorated the chair and table which was piled high with gifts. Mrs. Clement presented corsages to the bride, her mother and the groom's mother.

Mrs. Tamura assisted her daughter in unwrapping the many useful gifts and the groom's mother, Mrs. McDonald made a beautiful hat with all the ribbons and bows. The honoree then modelled the milinery creation.

Following the displaying of the gifts refreshments were served by Glenda Clement, Marjorie Hall, Mrs. Terry Hiki-chi, Mrs. Clement and Mrs. Holitzki.

ANN LANDERS

Grease And Ankle Sox Put Marriage On Rocks

Dear Ann Landers: I did a slow burn when that guy wrote to complain that his wife acts like she's doing him a favor once every two weeks. A time-table like that would have been heaven to me.

I married Aggie when I was 20. She was 22. When I thought she was high principles turned out to be pathological hatred for sex. From the night we married until I left her, 17 years later, Aggie wore underwear and ankle sox under her nightgown. She also had this thing about lubricating her skin so it wouldn't wrinkle. At bedtime she put so much grease on, she looked like she was fixating to swim the English Channel.

And then of course there were the headaches and backaches and colds. She managed to get six colds a year, each one lasting a month.

I am now married to a wonderful gal who knows that sex can be a bond that ties a man and woman together. My only mistake was waiting 17 years to lead a normal life. You print lots of letters from women who think their husbands are sex maniacs. Please print this one and help even the score. — ALIVE AND WELL IN DECATUR

Dear Ann Landers: The score will never be even, but your letter helps balance it a bit. Thanks for writing.

Dear Ann Landers: Why do people get belligerent and act insulted when they want to cash a check and are asked to produce identification? Don't they realize employees have to keep records? It isn't enough that a person has an honest face.

I work in a large store and I try to be as polite and considerate to our customers as possible. Yesterday when I asked a woman for identification, she snapped, "Are you trying to say I'm a swindler?" A half hour later a man threw his credit cards and driver's licence in my face and yelled, "Some fresh punks just have to show their authority!" I'm sure I'm not the only salesperson who has this problem, so please print my letter. I'd like to tape it to the cash register and I'll guarantee you, so will hundreds of other employees. — ABUSED

Dear Ab: Here's your letter and I hope it helps promote better understanding on the part of the customers.

Dear Ann Landers: Our 19-year-old daughter is a sophomore at a well known school in the East. Judy has always been considered one of the better brought up young ladies of this town. But her language since she has been away at school is appalling. She uses some very dirty words in ordinary everyday conversation. Her father, half-kidding, said, "When you were younger I used to wash your mouth out with soap and I might have to do it again."

Judy's answer was, "I tell it like it is. Words are only sounds. Get with it."

What should a parent say in response? — SPEECHLESS

Dear Speech: A parent should say, "If you want to stay in this house you'd better use decent language to tell it like it is. We don't go for gutter talk around here and YOU'D better get with it."

'Resignations To Save Face' Says Ski Coach Al Raine

NELSON, B.C. (CP) — Al Raine, head coach of the Canadian national ski team, said Monday that five senior team members who resigned did so to save face.

Raine was commenting on a statement made in Montreal earlier Monday by Keith Nesbitt, general manager of the Canadian Amateur Ski Association, that he had received an unsigned report "apparently from a member or group of members" of Canada's national alpine ski team saying that five senior team members have resigned.

Mr. Nesbitt said in an interview that he has neither seen nor received letters of resignation from the skiers named in the report.

The five are Judi Leinweber, 16, Kimberley, B.C.; Stephanie Townsend, 21, Banff, Alta.; Currie Chapman, 19, Montreal; Bob Swan, 25, Chelsea, Que. and John Ritchie, 19, Port Arthur.

Nesbitt said the report is critical of the alpine ski program and of coach Al Raine.

ALD. ALAN MOSS got the 1969 Babe Ruth baseball season under way Monday when he threw out the first ball at the Babe Ruth ball park. Ald. Moss, a left-hander who offers little threat to the records of Sandy Koufax, was joined in the ceremonies by president of the Babe Ruth league, Ken Chute (left) and vice-president of the league, Dell Welder (centre). The opening game was cut to five innings when rain and darkness moved over the park. (Courier photo)

Another Season In City Baseball

Monday evening marked the official opening of the 1969 Kelowna and District Babe Ruth League at the Kelowna Babe Ruth Ball Park.

Ken Chute, president of the league opened the ceremonies and welcomed all the boys, coaches, managers and the public. Mr. Chute wished all the teams success in the coming season and mentioned each year more and more boys are turning out for Babe Ruth baseball and that it has reached a point where boys are having to be turned away because there are not enough facilities such as playing fields to handle all the boys that turn out.

He said that he hoped in the near future more playing accommodations would be provided in the city.

Mr. Chute introduced Dell Welder, vice-president of the Babe Ruth League, who spoke to the boys on the importance of sportsmanship, and conducted both on and off the diamond and stressed the fact that the boys are representatives of Babe Ruth Baseball and the high standards and ideals the organization upholds.

Mr. Chute introduced Ald. Alan Moss, who represented the city at the official opening and threw out the first ball to officially open the 1969 season.

Mr. Moss spoke to the boys in respect to the work and effort put in by the men and women who give of their time willing to help these young men to play and enjoy baseball.

Mr. Moss also said he was glad to hear that Kelowna had been awarded the 1969 B.C. Tournament for 15 year old players in Babe Ruth. This is a week-long tournament with teams from all over B.C. being represented and he said Kelowna was indeed fortunate to get this provincial play-off.

He hoped that the citizens of Kelowna would get behind the Babe Ruth League to make this B.C. Tournament a resounding success and a credit to Kelowna.

In the abbreviated game, John Gerik pitched hitless ball for four innings and ended up with a one-hitter as Firestone defeated Kinsmen 7-3.

The five-inning game was marred by several errors, a common malady in any league on opening day. Reg Rantucci was the losing pitcher.

In little league play Monday, Kinsmen blasted Black Knight 21-5 at Robertson Park. Eric Blais was the winning pitcher, getting help from Robbie Napier and the Kinsmen's well-balanced attack.

In a second game, played at the Little League park, Lions edged Bruce Paige 7-6. Robert Carolei was the winning pitcher while Howard Martin was stuck with the loss.

Dean Suder delivered a key double in the bottom of the fifth inning while Mark Carigan drove in the winning run with a single.

Scores High In Baseball

RUTLAND (Special) — The first games of the 1969 Little League season were played at Edith Gay Playground, Meyer Road, on Saturday, with four Little League teams competing and an expanded Farm League of eight teams battling it out on their section of the park.

The size of the scores would indicate the pitchers are not in top form as yet. Only one close game resulted, that was between two farm teams, Syd's and Dion's, which ended with a 7-4 victory for Syd's. There will be games again on Tuesday evening and Saturday morning. Following are the scores of Saturday's opening games:

Farm League: Rockets 5, Flyers 17; Syd's 7, Dion's 6; Cubs 13, Giants 27; Bombers 8, Jets 15.

Little League: Schneider's Logging 20, Midvalley Realty 21; Light's Travel Service 15, Dions 3.

Only 13 Players For Stampeders

GALT, Ont. (CP) — Calgary Stampeders are used to coming from behind, but it may be a bit more difficult in the Allan Cup final for the senior amateur hockey title.

The Western Canada champions turned up with only 13 players for Sunday's opening game of the best-of-seven series against Galt Hornets and were dumped 7-2.

But coach Roy Kelly was confident Monday as he put the Stampeders through a spirited workout in preparation for tonight's resumption of the series.

All games will be played here, with the third Thursday and the fourth Saturday.

Kelly said eight members of the club were unable to come here because of job commitments. The Stampeders had only three defencemen for the opening game.

EMPLOYERS RELENT?

The coach said in the face of Calgary's first-game loss, he was hoping some employers would relent and give team members time off to join the playoff.

He said centre Sid Finney might play tonight and the defensive corps would be strengthened by the addition of at least one defenceman.

"Before the series is over, the Hornets will hear more from us," Kelly said. "We've played clubs as good as that out west."

For the Stampeders, the road to this year's final has been uphill most of the way.

They finished second to Edmonton Monarchs in Alberta Senior Hockey League regular play, but then won the provincial title by beating Drumheller Miners in four straight games and ousting the Monarchs from contention in six games.

Calgary fell behind Spokane, Wash., Jets 2-1 in the western semi-final, but then recovered to win twice in a row and take the best-of-five series 3-2.

The western final against Port Arthur, Ont., Bearcats followed a similar script. The Stampeders lost the opening game before winning three straight.

Against Galt, the western champions are up against some heavy artillery. The eastern champions have eight players who have scored at least 20 goals in regular play in the Ontario Hockey Association and have another four players who scored 10 or more goals.

In 24 playoff games since winning the OHA regular title, Hornets have scored 123 goals for a 5.13 per-game average.

Galt reached the national final by beating the defending champions, Victoriaville, Que., Tigers, in six games.

Abernathy Loads Bases Then Cuts Short Rally

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Leo Durocher figures Ted Abernathy's underhanded tricks are too good to be true.

"It's seldom you get out of jams like that," the Chicago skipper said Monday night after Abernathy, the ancient submariner of the Cubs' bullpen, escaped a bases-loaded, none-out bind in the 10th inning, saving a 2-1 victory over Philadelphia Phillies.

The 36-year-old relief specialist made Ron Santo's go-ahead single in the top of the 10th stand up by getting two Philadelphia pinch hitters to tap into force plays at the plate, then retiring a third on a roller to third baseman Santo.

"That was some kind of pitching," said Durocher, who admitted he had expected the game would get away from Abernathy. "Three ground balls—that's what you have to have."

While Abernathy's underhand slinkerball was submerging the Phillies, a ball boy's ninth-inning blooper helped lift Los Angeles Dodgers past San Diego Padres 4-3.

BOY TOUCHES BALL

With one out and one on in the ninth, the ball boy, stationed in the left field corner to retrieve foul balls, touched a fair ball off the bat of pinch hitter Wes Parker. Parker was awarded a triple, tying the game, and pinch hitter Ken Boyer followed with a game-winning infield single.

Hank Aaron's 513th career homer paced Atlanta Braves to a 12-1 romp over Houston Astros; St. Louis Cardinals trimmed Pittsburgh Pirates 6-2 behind left-hander Steve Carlton and San Francisco Giants edged Cincinnati Reds 4-3 in other NL games.

Abernathy, 36, whose 84 appearances for the Cubs four years ago stands as a National League mark, loaded the bases before he disposed of Johnny Briggs, Ron Stone and Rick Joseph to defeat the Phillies.

Rich Allen's third homer tied the game seventh, but the Cubs regained the lead in the 10th on a two-base error by left fielder Rojas, a sacrifice and Santo's single.

The Dodgers trailed 3-2 in the ninth when Bill Russell delivered a pinch single. Parker then drilled a liner that dropped just inside the line in left. When the ball boy, thinking the ball was foul, picked it up, third base umpire Paul Pryor waved Russell home and awarded a triple to Parker.

BROKE THE TIE

Parker held third as Willie Davis grounded to second baseman Jose Arcia for the second out, but Boyer broke the tie by beating out a roller to short.

Aaron moved past ex-teammate Ed Mathews into sixth place on the all-time homer list with a three-run wallop in the third inning as the Braves swamped the Astros. He delivered another run with a double in the four-run fourth.

The loss was the sixth in a row and 13th in 14 games for Houston.

Carlton fired a four-hitter, squaring his record at 2-2, as the Cards breezed past the Pirates after striking for three runs in the first inning. Joe Torre's two-run single keyed the burst.

Curt Flood drove in one run with a fourth-inning single and doubled and scored another on Vada Pinson's single in the eighth.

Bobby Bonds smashed a lead-off homer in the first inning and scored two more runs on singles by Willie Mays and Ron Hunt, leading the Giants past Cincinnati in a day game.

Gaylord Perry, staked to a 4-0 lead, survived seventh and ninth-inning homers by Tony Perez as the Giants protected their share of the Western Division lead.

NHL Players Get Awards

MONTREAL (CP) — If the National Hockey League had any ideas of discounting its annual trophy award luncheon, the thought must be dispelled today.

The league pulled away from its usual cut-and-dried formula Monday as Phil Esposito and Bobby Orr of Boston Bruins, Danny Grant of Minnesota North Stars and the St. Louis Blues goaltending duo of Glenn Hall and Jacques Plante were all on hand to accept their awards.

Alex Delvecchio, Detroit Red Wings veteran captain, also was honored. However, Delvecchio was grounded in Detroit by the current Air Canada strike and was unable to attend.

Bobby Hull, Chicago Black Hawks powerful left winger, was master of ceremonies. He was a non-recipient this year.

League president Clarence Campbell said he feels the affairs now are sufficiently established to continue them in the future.

RUNS AT DEFICIT

The annual deficit from post office operations in Canada is about $10,000,000.

Bowman Awaits Surprise In Playoff Game Tonight

MONTREAL (CP) — Scotty Bowman does not believe in black magic, witchcraft or the so-called Montreal Canadiens' jinx on St. Louis Blues.

In fact, the 30-year-old coach is confident his club will surprise a lot of people starting with tonight's second game of the best-of-seven Stanley Cup final.

"It never fails, when a Western Division team comes close, it's always because the Eastern Division club played badly," Bowman said in an interview Monday night.

"But lots of teams would have folded up their tents after going behind 2-0 in the first four minutes, but we didn't. We beat them for 55 minutes," and then, instead of tying it, lost on an empty-net goal.

Bowman felt his club could have played better Sunday when they dropped the series opener to the defending champions 3-1. And he had some choice words for the critics who say the Canadiens are going to wrap up the series in four straight games the way they did last year.

offensive excitement as the Bruins ... all I'm saying is that we've got a good hockey club.

"The same people who are talking now about another sweep are the same ones who picked St. Louis to finish sixth in 1967. No one gave us a tumble to end up on top this year and we did it by 19 points.

"When people like Sammy (Pollock, general manager of the Canadiens) say we've got a good team, you've got to believe them."

While Bowman and the Blues don't believe there is anything occult in the fact that they have only two ties in 15 regular season and playoff meetings with the Canadiens, they do have some superstitions.

Bowman wouldn't let trainer Tommy Woodcock wash the club's jerseys while the Blues were on a 10-game winning streak which included eight consecutive playoff victories to eliminate Philadelphia Flyers and Los Angeles Kings in the preliminaries.

However, Glenn Hall, scheduled to make a record 103rd Stanley Cup appearance tonight, has a superstition against superstitions.

"When I find myself getting into a situation that may become superstitious, I change my habits," said Hall, who won the Conn Smythe trophy last year as the most valuable playoff performer.

Bowman said "with a little luck," he will ice the same lineup tonight as he did Sunday afternoon, with the exception of Hall, who replaces Jacques Plante in goal.

Red Berenson, the Blues' offensive threat and Western Division scoring leader, picked up a charley horse Sunday when hit by Terry Harper in the second period and did not skate Monday in the voluntary workout.

The only doubtful starter for either team is St. Louis defenseman Barclay Plager. He was carried off the ice on a stretcher late in the game Sunday after he crashed hard into the boards while trying to nail Jacques Lemaire.

Williams Helped Senators Hit But Pitching Staff Joins In

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Whatever Ted Williams has been saying to his hitters, they have been repeating loudly over and over again the last five games, but how do you explain how Washington's relief pitchers have been sounding off?

Williams, one of baseball's greatest sluggers, had hoped to impart some of his knowledge to the Senators' hitters and apparently has succeeded as they have hammered 39 runs for five consecutive victories.

But manager Williams must have some good ideas, too, on how to get batters out because his bullpen has not allowed a run in the last 35 2-3 innings.

The lessons worked well again Monday night as the Senators rolled up No. 5 by pasting Detroit Tigers 6-1 with Hank Allen driving in three runs and Dick Bosman posting four scoreless innings in relief of winner Camillo Pascual.

While the Senators were sounding off again, Boston Red Sox finally were silenced when Fritz Peterson of New York Yankees stopped them on three hits for a 1-0 victory, the first time in 12 games the Sox haven't hit a homer.

Minnesota blanked Kansas City Royals 4-0 as Twins Jim Perry scattered seven hits in the only afternoon game in a schedule curtailed by rain. Baltimore's game at Cleveland and the California contest at Seattle were washed out at night.

BROKE LOOSE TWICE

The Senators, who had managed only 25 runs in 12 games before their victory streak, jumped on Earl Wilson for two runs in the first inning on Allen's run-scoring hit and a throwing error by Al Kaline. They waited until the eighth to break loose again when Allen singled in two more runs and hits by Ken McMullen and Paul Casanova brought home two more.

Meanwhile, Pascual had held the Tigers to Dick McAuliffe's lead-off homer in the first before leaving after five innings in the 43-degree weather. That's when Bosman took over and blanked Detroit the final four innings, giving him 8 2-3 shutout innings.

MORTGAGE MONEY

If you have invested money in a home it is probably the best collateral you have. For example, by using this equity at Seaboard Finance most home owners can obtain a lower interest rate than is possible on a personal loan. And at Seaboard you can borrow up to 80% of the value of your property, or in some cases even more. See us for cash today.

Buoyant Attitude Maintained

NEW YORK (AP) — Business in the United States seems to be maintaining its buoyant attitude in face of the likelihood that the tax incentive for expansion of production facilities will be wiped out.

The most they concede is that spending programs might flat-ten out in the second half of this year and show a small decline in 1970.

Even if Congress—which is receptive to knocking out the tax credit as another step toward halting inflation—makes the repeal retroactive to April 21, as Nixon asked, economists point out that corporations now are so committed to earlier formulated expansion plans that they are not in a position to backdown much.

SURGE TOO FAST
The investment tax credit last went into effect in January 1968, when the government felt corporations needed more money to pump into the then-sluggish economic bloodstream.
Since then the economy has surged too fast for the comfort of government fiscal experts.

It is estimated that the credit has saved corporations $3-$4,000,000, a year in taxes.
Before the proposal to repeal the tax credit, a survey of corporations by McGraw-Hill Publications Co., which specializes in business reports and analysis, indicated they planned to spend a record $72,400,000,000 on expansion of facilities this year despite earlier government efforts to stem inflation with the 10-per-cent income tax surcharge and higher interest rates.

The total would be 13 per cent higher than the 1968 outlay.
But Douglas Greenwood, chief economist for McGraw-Hill, said he felt a more realistic projected increase would be around 10 per cent due to tighter credit and a shortage of skilled labor.
He said that in his opinion loss of the tax credit would not be much of a factor this year.

FEAR OVERKILL
Some industrialists felt that repeal of the tax credit on top of the tax surcharge and higher interest rates might prove to be an "overkill" that could become inflationary itself.

Nixon coupled his proposal to repeal the tax credit with a request that Congress reduce the surcharge to five per cent on Jan. 1, 1970, with a view to eliminating it later.

In the wake of these developments concerning inflation, there came new proof that prices
The U.S. labor department reported this week that the cost of living in March rose eight-tenths of one per cent to an average of 125.6 per cent of the 1957-59 average. The gain was the highest for a month in 18 years and meant that items costing $10 a decade ago now cost $12.56.

Government economists said they expected prices to level off under pressure of fiscal restraints, but some private economists said that prices would keep going up for another six months or a year but at a slower pace.

Automobile production this week was estimated at 178,600 passenger cars, up seven per cent from 166,750 the previous week but down 13 per cent from 205,143 a year earlier.

MUSICALLY SPEAKING

Several Firsts At OMF Opening

With BETHEL STEELE

Monday as opening day at the Okanagan Music Festival saw several firsts, most important of which was the introduction of Spanish guitar classes. During the morning session we heard two such . . . the under 12 with 13 entries and the under 14 with 19 in it.

The wonderful thing about these particular classes is the number of boys participating. There were only eight girls in all. And boys won both. David Grant in the under 12 and Brian Grant in the under 14.

The adjudicator . . . Mrs. T. Ralston asked the children in the first class if they were listening to each other and what was the biggest weakness. She went on to explain that rhythm or its lack was the main weakness and that rhythm is the normal flow of life . . . a regular pulse. David Grant was told he had a nice tempo and a good retard at the end. He received 82.

Mrs. Ralston told the older class their tempo was of the greatest variety with most playing too slowly and explained that andante means at a moderate pace preferably moving and going someplace. The piece was about a girl and therefore must be vibrant. Brian Grant was first in the class and was told he was fortunate because he set a nice tempo and the playing had total variety. It showed sensitivity and had a lovely end. Brian received a mark of 85 . . . the highest instrumental mark of the day. The two main technical points noted were that there must be no waiting between chord-changes and the phrases must be shaped.

The afternoon session opened early for a Grade 6 class who with their teacher were on an observation field trip to the festival with a chance to learn the workings of the theatre itself. They stayed on for part of the competitions which were mainly classroom choirs.

Except for a Grade 1 and 2 classroom choir class of three groups from school district 23 the others were all from out of town. The two choirs in the girls under 19 years had come all the way from Kamloops and Mica Creek.

Mrs. Beckett the adjudicator asked where was Mica Creek and on being told 220 miles away she complimented the girls for their endeavor. There are 220 students at Mica Creek from Grade 1 to 11 with 75 in the secondary division.

This choir was told to try for a more legato line and not to scoop and that it was too bad they had trouble with their pitch. They must learn to exaggerate the words in singing so as to project well. They were told to be careful in the middle register as this was the most difficult in which to sing. They received 80 and 82 marks.

Mrs. Beckett asked the Kamloops choir if they did exercises for the top part of their voices. Up there the tone needs more focus. In the Bird Song they had a good choral tone except for a bit of flatness but had a good legato. A lovely ending. This was musical singing of a very high calibre. They received 86 and 85 marks and the Joyce Stewart cup.

At this point we heard class 308 . . . String Ensemble, open . . . which was brought forward from Saturday. The Pentecost schools string group was the only entry. There were seven violins, one bass and one adult cello and Mrs. Ralston gave them a special hello stating that all over the world there is great and grave concern over the fact that the art of string playing is dying out. She pointed out that it is a privilege to play a string instrument. This group had a full and warm tone but it needed more variety in color and more experiment in the lower voice. The lower strings must learn to adjust to the intonation of the upper if they are out.

This column has a special place in the heart for the tiny people . . . and the three entries from School District 23 in the Grade 1 and 2 classroom choir were lovely. Okanagan Mission won with 82 and 82. Mrs. Beckett told them they really sang as a group, the voices were uniform and in Five Eyes they really told a story.

The evening session gave us a class of Haydn and Mozart piano Sonatas under 18. Mrs. Ralston explained these are the most difficult and dangerous music to play . . . they are deceptive and as you grow older you realize they become harder. They demand discipline of rhythm and of color. This is not student material but you must learn them and play them. Some of you got the technical problems but not all of you the style or the drama. The hands must be married . . . be together. But take more time with the phrases and rhythmically it is better to be too late than too soon. Margaret Daniel, Kelowna and Leslie Cryderman of Pentecost tied with 70.

Nora Silver received 80 marks in the open Spanish Guitar class Mrs. Ralston explained the guitar repertoire is limited and said bravo to this competitor for her self transcription of the famous Greensleeves folk-song. But one could not see the wood for the trees. The melody was lost. But otherwise this was well done.

In the Pianoforte Duet under 18 the two entries were very close. No. one had what Mrs. Ralston would have liked added to No. two's playing and No. two had what she would like to have heard added to that of No. one. No. one was spirited and detailed. No. two had the speed . . . very daring but a lack of rhythmic stress which No. one had. Judy Meles and Lynn Gartrell received 84; the Daniels of Kelowna 83.

Ron Flannan the only entry in the Men's Vocal Solo . . . tenor was praised by Mrs. Beckett for just being a tenor. They are scarce. The voice is young but has promise. The top will open up with age and gain resonance. The ear is good . . . he sang in pitch. Carry on with your studies. The mark was 84.

Cardinal Plans To Contest Quebec Liberal Leadership

ST. LOIRE, Que. (CP) — Education Minister Jean-Guy Cardinal has announced that he will contest the leadership of the Union Nationale party and said he would leave the party open to Quebecers of all constitutional opinions, including separatism.

Mr. Cardinal, speaking at a news conference in his own riding of Bagot, said he could offer leadership characterized by "force, authority and stability."

His announcement was marked by two differences from the position of Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand, the other leading contender for the leadership: Mr. Cardinal called on all Quebecers, including separatists, to join the party, while Mr. Bertrand opened his leadership campaign in March by saying separatists do not belong in the Union Nationale.

Mr. Cardinal, 44, contrasted his own age and good health with that of the 52-year-old premier who suffered a mild heart attack last December.

Mr. Cardinal announced his candidacy in the presence of about 300 supporters, including a busload of enthusiasts from Chicoutimi riding, represented by Cultural Affairs Minister Jean-Noel Tremblay. St. Loire is about 40 miles southeast of Montreal.

The education minister, former dean of law at the University of Montreal, said the Union Nationale is a strictly-Quebec party, the party of all Quebecers, whatever their ideology or ethnic origin.

"In the Union Nationale," he said, "there is room for separatists (des souverainistes), for nationalists, for federalists. In short, there is room for all those who want to build a strong and identifiable society."

Mr. Cardinal represents the riding previously held by premier Daniel Johnson, whose death last September precipitated the leadership convention scheduled for June 1971. Premier Bertrand was chosen interim leader after Mr. Johnson died.

Mr. Cardinal said Mr. Bertrand was "very sick and very tired" last year, but said he himself is in "perfect health."

Mr. Bertrand said in announcing his candidacy for the leadership March 16 that he suffered a mild heart attack in December, but would not be seeking the permanent leadership if his doctors had not said he is healthy enough to continue his political career.

TAKES NO STAND
Mr. Cardinal told reporters he has not made up his mind as to what is the best constitutional option for Quebec, but "we have to find this option as soon as possible."

"Personally, I don't reject any option, even if certain among them are unrealistic and only represent theories."

He said later the constitutional option of Rene Levesque's separatist Parti Quebecois was an example of a choice that is only "a theory."

Premier Bertrand has called for "renewed federalism," an option he said in March is defended "by the immense majority of the partisans of the Union Nationale."

Mr. Cardinal said he will develop the following themes in his leadership campaign: —A fundamental reorganization of the government system, including revision of the system of representation in the national assembly.

—The drafting of an internal constitution for Quebec "as soon as possible" and "restoration of legislative power and authority over the government apparatus."

—Adaptation of the Quebec economy to meet "the rapid transformations of society" and industrialization of farming in an agricultural reform that would leave no arable land "unplowed" in Quebec.

He would not elaborate on these themes under questioning. The only declared leadership candidate other than Mr. Bertrand and Mr. Cardinal is Andre Levesque, 35, a backbencher in the national assembly who entered the race only "to continue the party's tradition of democra- cy."

Kiernan Refuses To Quit

VICTORIA (CP) — Kenneth Kiernan, provincial recreation and conservation minister, turned back a demand that he resign Monday, saying that was the easy way out of a difficult situation.

It was harder to stay and help solve the problems, but "that's what I'm going to do," he said in response to a telegram to Premier W. A. C. Bennett earlier in the day from the Cranbrook branch of the B.C. Wildlife Federation urging his resignation.

Charging that Mr. Kiernan had fulfilled a promise to preserve and encourage wildlife in the Kootenay area with "empty words" and promises, the group said a new man should get the conservation portfolio.

In a brief to the Cranbrook Rod and Gun Club, the federation branch said the area was becoming industrialized and less amenable to sportsmen.

Mr. Kiernan said in an interview he sympathized with the federation and they were correct in saying a committee to study land use in the area had not been activated yet.

However, he pointed out that the committee would be cutting across the jurisdiction of several departments in its study and that a comprehensive land use study under the Agricultural Rehabilitation and Development Act was not complete yet.

The ARDA study would form the basis of the committee's probe.

Air Force Receiving Plane Order

OTTAWA (CP) — The air force is beginning to take delivery of its $212,800,000 order for 115 CF-5 fighter-bombers but no specific role has been assigned to them.

The two CF-5 squadrons being formed at Bagotville, Que., and Namao, Alta., will be capable of "rapid deployment for a wide range of contingencies," a defence department spokesman says.

However, the department declined to spell out any of these contingencies.

Moreover, none of the contingencies apparently will involve any overseas commitment. The short-range CF-5 can be deployed abroad only with in-flight refuelling and no order has been placed for an aerial tanker.

B.C. Youth Jailed For Yacht Theft

AUCKLAND (AP) — A young British Columbian who stole a yacht and tried to sail home from New Zealand was sentenced today to six months imprisonment at Gisborne magistrate's court.

Larry Gerald Boudreau, 18, unemployed, pleaded guilty April 18 to stealing a $4,000 yacht from Waitangi on March 28.

He was also sentenced to a concurrent term of six months imprisonment on a charge of stealing a dinghy the same day.

Magistrate Walter Willis recommended that Boudreau be kept apart from other prisoners and that the prison parole board see whether he could be returned to Canada as soon as possible. Willis told Boudreau he was lucky he was before the court and not at McMurdo Sound, Antarctica, which would have been his next stop had he missed Waihou Bay, where he landed by chance.

Counsel Ernest Chrisp said Boudreau acted in an adventurous and impetuous manner rather than criminally. He had sailed for Canada with only six days' food and no navigational aids. It was a shortsighted and impractical way of returning home.

The magistrate said it was not so novel. Four yachts had been taken off the New Zealand coast recently and this sort of behavior must be stopped, he said.

At Shell, we've dedicated ourselves to one idea: we want you to get the best possible mileage from your car. We sum it up with the phrase "mileage is our business".

And we back it up with our products, people and research.

Take our gasoline for example.

Every gallon of Super Shell is formulated with five mileage ingredients. Each one does a different, important job for you.

Platformate and four more

You have probably heard a good deal about the Platformate ingredient.

It has more energy per gallon than 100-octane aviation fuel. More energy means more mileage.

There's also TCP, Butane, a detergent and Mixed Pentanes to help your mileage.

Our people can help your mileage too. We expect every Shell dealer to be a mileage expert.

This means that when you drive in to a Shell station, a lot of good things can happen.

Spark plugs, tires and driving tips

The Shell man can check your spark plugs, air filter, tire pressure, battery, ignition system—even your driving habits. They all affect your mileage.

That's our promise: no matter what you drive or where you live, we can help you go farther.

Because mileage is our business.

Mileage is our business
